Why Self-Drive

IN THE USA

The United States of America is one of the world's largest and diverse countries. Consisting of fifty states, it is a vast country to explore. The best way to travel from 'sea to shining sea' is by road, taking advantage of the extensive network of highways which criss-cross through the States. This guide is aimed at the traveller who wants to experience freedom and flexibility in their travels. Find out more about taking a self-drive holiday in the US including car hire, motorhome and motorcycle information, along with some ideas for touring the different and unique regions of this fascinating country.

Renting A Car

IN THE USA

When selecting a rental vehicle, take into consideration where you will be travelling, how many people will be travelling in the vehicle, luggage size and the kind of driving you intend to do. DriveAway Holidays offers a vast range of vehicles from small economy sizes to larger full-sized cars, 4WDs, convertibles and luxury vehicles. The ACRISS system below will help you find a car that suits your needs. This is internationally recognised code which will ensure you get the same standard of vehicle wherever you rent.

Collecting at an Airport in the USA

At most American airports you will find your rental company has a desk in the arrivals hall, with the rental cars being located within walking distance. However, at smaller airports you may be required to collect your vehicle from a downtown depot. A courtesy transfer will be provided from the airport to the depot in this instance. DriveAway Holidays offer all-inclusive prices which generally include any location / airport fees and charges that may otherwise apply. Remember to check at time of booking to ensure your rental will include all airport fees.

USA Fleet Guide

Below are just some examples of the many cars you will find our suppliers' fleets. As we use a number of suppliers in each destination, the below models cannot be guaranteed and may not be available at the specific location you are planning to collect from. Renting A Car

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Do I need a credit card?

All suppliers in the USA will require a credit card imprint at the time of collection and some suppliers will freeze an amount from US$100. Cash and debit card deposits are on request with some car rental companies, but credit cards are preferred. Check with DriveAway Holidays to verify the relevant deposit requirements.

Can I choose between Automatic and Manual Transmissions?

Most rental companies only hire automatic cars, so you will have a huge selection of automatics to choose from at the time of booking.

Can I collect my rental car in one city and drop it off in another city?

Yes, but you may incur a one-way drop off fee, which depends on the mileage between cities and may often have restrictions on the number of days for the hire, however travelling between some states may not incur a one-way fee, e.g. generally there's no drop off fee for travel between California and Nevada. Make sure you are advised of these additional fees with DriveAway Holidays before you travel.

Can I travel into Canada?

Yes - make sure that you advise DriveAway at the time of booking as an additional insurance is sometimes required, depending on the pick up depot and the supplier. Please note that a one-way rental between US and Canada will incur a one-way drop off fee and restrictions apply.

Can I travel into Mexico?

Some car rental vehicles may be driven into Mexico, and travel is usually only permitted into the Free Trade zone, about 13-25 miles into Mexico. Restrictions and additional insurances will apply. Please check with DriveAway..

Can I travel to Alaska?

Most suppliers will permit travel into Alaska but restrictions will sometimes apply. Please contact us for further information.

Insurance

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW...

American law requires all vehicles to have compulsory third party (CTP) injury insurance, although your car rental supplier should already have comprehensive insurance covering their cars. In the case of an accident it must be reported to the insurance provider immediately. No excess will apply on all USA rentals booked with DriveAway.

Car Rental Companies in the USA will normally include:

- > Third Party Insurance: Compulsory insurance will be included in your car hire price. This covers you for other people's injury and damage to their vehicle.
- > Collision Damage Waiver (CDW): This limits your financial liability for damage to the rented vehicle and is normally included in prepaid car hire prices. Standard rentals are normally subject to zero excess in the US.
- > Theft and Loss Cover: This limits your financial liability for the loss or theft of the rented vehicle and is generally included in the prepaid car rental price.
- > Fire and Liability: Limits your financial liability for bodily injury or death and is normally included in the prepaid car hire price.
- > Personal Accident Insurance: This covers the driver for personal injuries and is generally not included in your car rental rate. It is considered an optional extra that you can take out upon collection of the car.

Driving

IN THE USA

- When you collect your car rental, familiarise yourself with the car and its controls.
- Cars drive on the right hand side of the road, and you drive from the left hand side of the car.
- Always wear a seat belt and use child safety seats where necessary.
- Be aware of the driving laws where you're driving – laws will vary from state to state.
- Research the road signs before you travel for better understanding.
- Get a good map or a GPS with the appropriate SD card.
- Carry your licence with you at all times when you are driving.
- Avoid driving in major cities (e.g. New York) where traffic can be heavy and parking hard to find.
- Some inner city areas can be tourist crime traps, so be aware of these areas to avoid.
- Most petrol or gasoline stations require you to pay before you fill up. You may also be required to give a local postcode when you pay by credit card, if so you will need to speak to the station attendant before you pay – make sure to check all options before filling up.

Driving Laws in the USA

Although most of the road rules are the same, each state in the USA has its own set of driving laws. When you collect your car rental, make sure you check with the depot if there are specific rules that you need to observe. Here are some of the basic rules that will apply across the country:

- The max speed limit on interstate highways in most states is now 65mph (110 km/hr), 25mph on cities and towns and 15mph in school zones.
- It is illegal to pass a school bus that has stopped to unload passengers; all vehicles must wait for the bus to move back into the flow of traffic.
- Almost all states require drivers and front seat passengers to wear a seat belt, whilst most states require children to wear seat belts no matter where they are seated in the car.
- Motorcyclists are required to wear helmets in the majority of states.
- Don't litter: If you throw rubbish from the window of your vehicle you can be fined up to US$1000.
- As a general rule, on major roadways in the US, the leftmost lanes are considered to be the fast lanes, while the right lanes are considered to be slow lanes.

Licence Requirements

A full driving licence is required to drive in the USA. All drivers must have held a full valid driving licence for a minimum of one year. Australian residents are not required by law to have an international drivers licence, although it is recommended since an international licence holds more credibility with the local traffic police than your home driving licence. Contact your local motoring association for further information.

Driving

IN THE USA

Parking

Parking in most cities and towns in the USA isn't usually a problem. In some towns there'll be restrictions on street parking that will be clearly signposted and other illegal parking spots such as across entrances, in front of fire or ambulance stations, or within 3m of a fire hydrant.

Parking metres are common in most towns and cities, and are monitored by city police and private companies, so make sure you do park legally or take the risk of a fine, wheel clamping or even being towed. If in doubt, park your car in private or municipal car parks that are provided in most towns.

Min & Max Age Requirements

Min Driving Age: Usually 21; however with some suppliers the minimum age is 25.

Young Driver's Surcharge: Drivers aged 21-25 years may be charged from USD15+tax per day.

Max Driving Age: The majority of locations in the USA do not have a maximum driving age, however there may be restrictions for drivers aged 70-75 in some regions. In some cases, aged drivers may be required to hold a letter from their GP stating they are healthy and fit to drive. Check with the supplier for further details.

Child Safety

Child Car Safety Seat Laws vary from state to state, but here are some of the CSS laws in popular states:

- California: Children must be in an appropriate child seat or restraint until they are at least 6 years old or weigh at least 60lbs. If the child weighs more than 40lbs they can use a seat belt in the rear of the car without a booster seat. For children 60lbs and over must wear a seat belt.
- New York: Children 3 years and younger must be seated in an approved child restraint. 4 to 15 year olds must be restrained with either a child or an adult seat belt.
- Florida: Children 3 years and younger must be seated in an approved child restraint. 4 to 5 year olds can be restrained in an adult seat belt if a child restraint is not available. Children aged 6 and over must wear a seatbelt.
- Hawaii: Children aged 3 and younger must be in a child restraint. Children aged 4-17 must wear a seatbelt.
- Alaska: Children 3 years and younger must be seated in an approved child restraint. 4 to 5 year olds must be restrained with either a child or an adult seat belt. Children aged 6 and over must wear a seatbelt when travelling in the front seat. Contact DriveAway Holidays for exact details of the Child Safety Seat laws that apply to the states in which you will be driving in.

Road Tolls & E-Tags

A toll road is a privately built road, often known as a tollway or turnpike. As with most things in the USA, the toll system varies across the country from state to state. There are more tollways in the eastern half of the US than in the western half, however its best to use a good map or GPS, where most of the tollways are marked with a distinct green stripe. The cost of tolls varies, so when travelling in states where toll roads are prevalent carry some spare change or ask your car hire supplier for information on electronic toll collection.

Self-Drive Tours Around The West Coast

The Pacific Coast Highway

Day 1: Los Angeles

Also referred to as The City of Angels, Los Angeles is famed for its film and TV industry. With so much to see and do, spend your first day exploring some of the city's many attractions.

Day 2: Los Angeles to Santa Monica (16mi/25km)

Make the short drive west to the beach-front city of Santa Monica and spend the day at its famous Pier built in 1909. Explore the Aquarium and unwind at the beach. If time permits, take a short drive down the coast to Venice Beach, a renowned hangout for the creative and artistic.

Day 3: Santa Monica to Santa Barbara (90mi/145km)

Visit Santa Barbara's most popular beach, East Beach which stretches of white powdery sand, tropical palm trees and crystal blue water. Try surfing for the day, eagle paragliding, kayaking, golfing, hiking or even go whale watching. Enjoy this coastal town for a few nights if you wish.

Day 4: Santa Barbara to Morro Bay (105mi/165km)

Enjoy a fun filled day of water activities. Go surfing or deep sea fishing, kayak around the south part of the bay or have a picnic by the sand pit. Keep an eye out for any otters, seal lions or fish at the Embarcadero on the east side of the bay. Whilst there, try out one of the Mexican restaurants for some authentic Mexican cuisine.

Day 5: Morro Bay to Big Sur (95mi/150km)

Continue along Pacific 1 highway until you reach Big Sur. When visiting make sure you soak up the high cliffs and open sea around you. Ride a horse along the beach, stroll through the state parks and art galleries, or simply watch the whales, otters and dolphins swimming along the mountain base. You can spend more than a day in Big Sur but as it is such a popular destination visitors are usually charged premium prices.

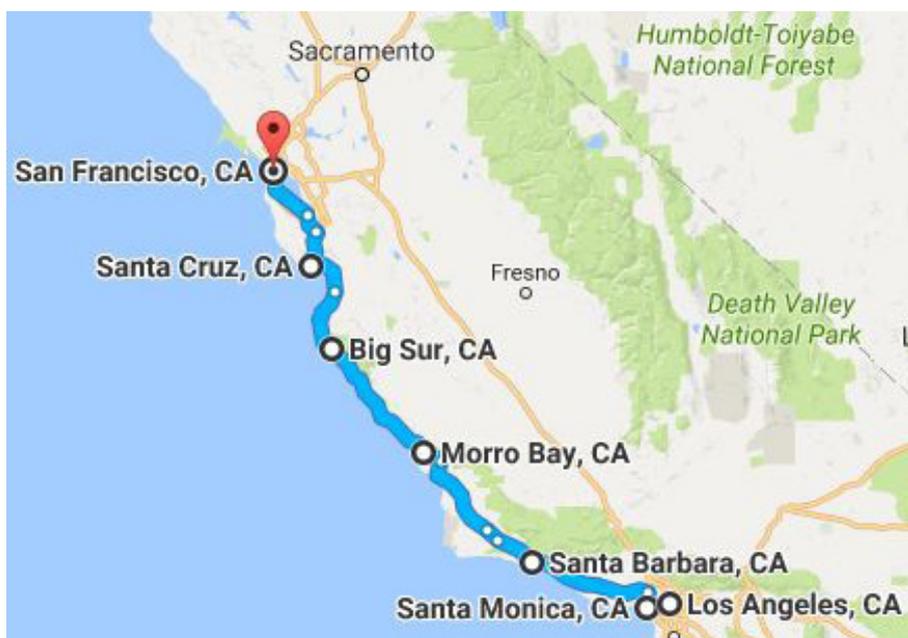

Day 6: Big Sur to Santa Cruz (70mi/110km)

It will be easy to relax and unwind in Santa Cruz with its bohemian, youthful atmosphere. Head to the Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk to feel like a kid again and play video games in the arcade or try your luck at mini golf, hockey, ping pong, laser tag, bowling, karaoke and more.

Day 7: Santa Cruz to San Francisco (73mi/115km)

End your journey in the heat of the bay area, San Francisco.

Take advantage of the many sightseeing opportunities like the guided tours of Alcatraz or a leisurely walk across the Gold Gate Bridge.

Self-Drive Tours California

Los Angeles to Palm Springs

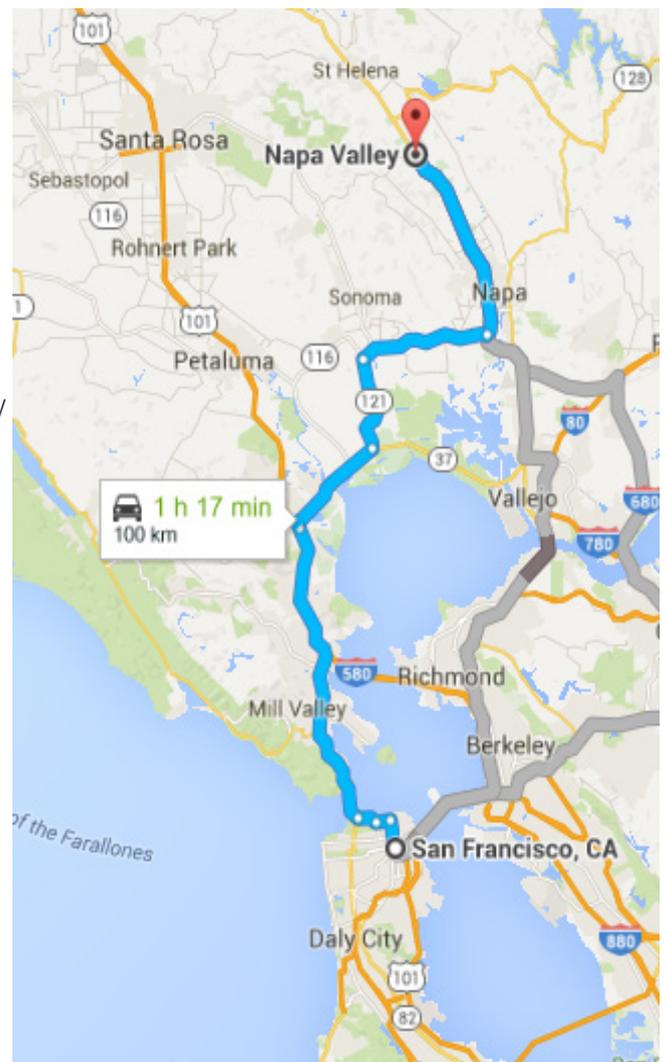

Palm Springs is a glamorous resort style oasis in the California desert that offers hiking, modern architecture, spectacular natural beauty and a host of outdoor activities. For the ultimate weekend getaway take the Interstate 10 East, towards Phoenix then take the exits for Highway 11 or Indian Canyon Drive. Once you notice the lavish homes, golf courses and palm trees you can be sure you have arrived in Palm Springs. The trip is approximately 190km east of Los Angeles and is located towards the top of the Colorado Desert. From most Southern California destinations, Palm Springs is about a two hour drive, depending on traffic.

San Francisco to Napa Valley

What better way to spend the day than living the life of luxury in the Napa Valley! From San Francisco the drive is approximately 90 minutes, however if you are planning to travel during rush hour, perhaps allow an extra hour.

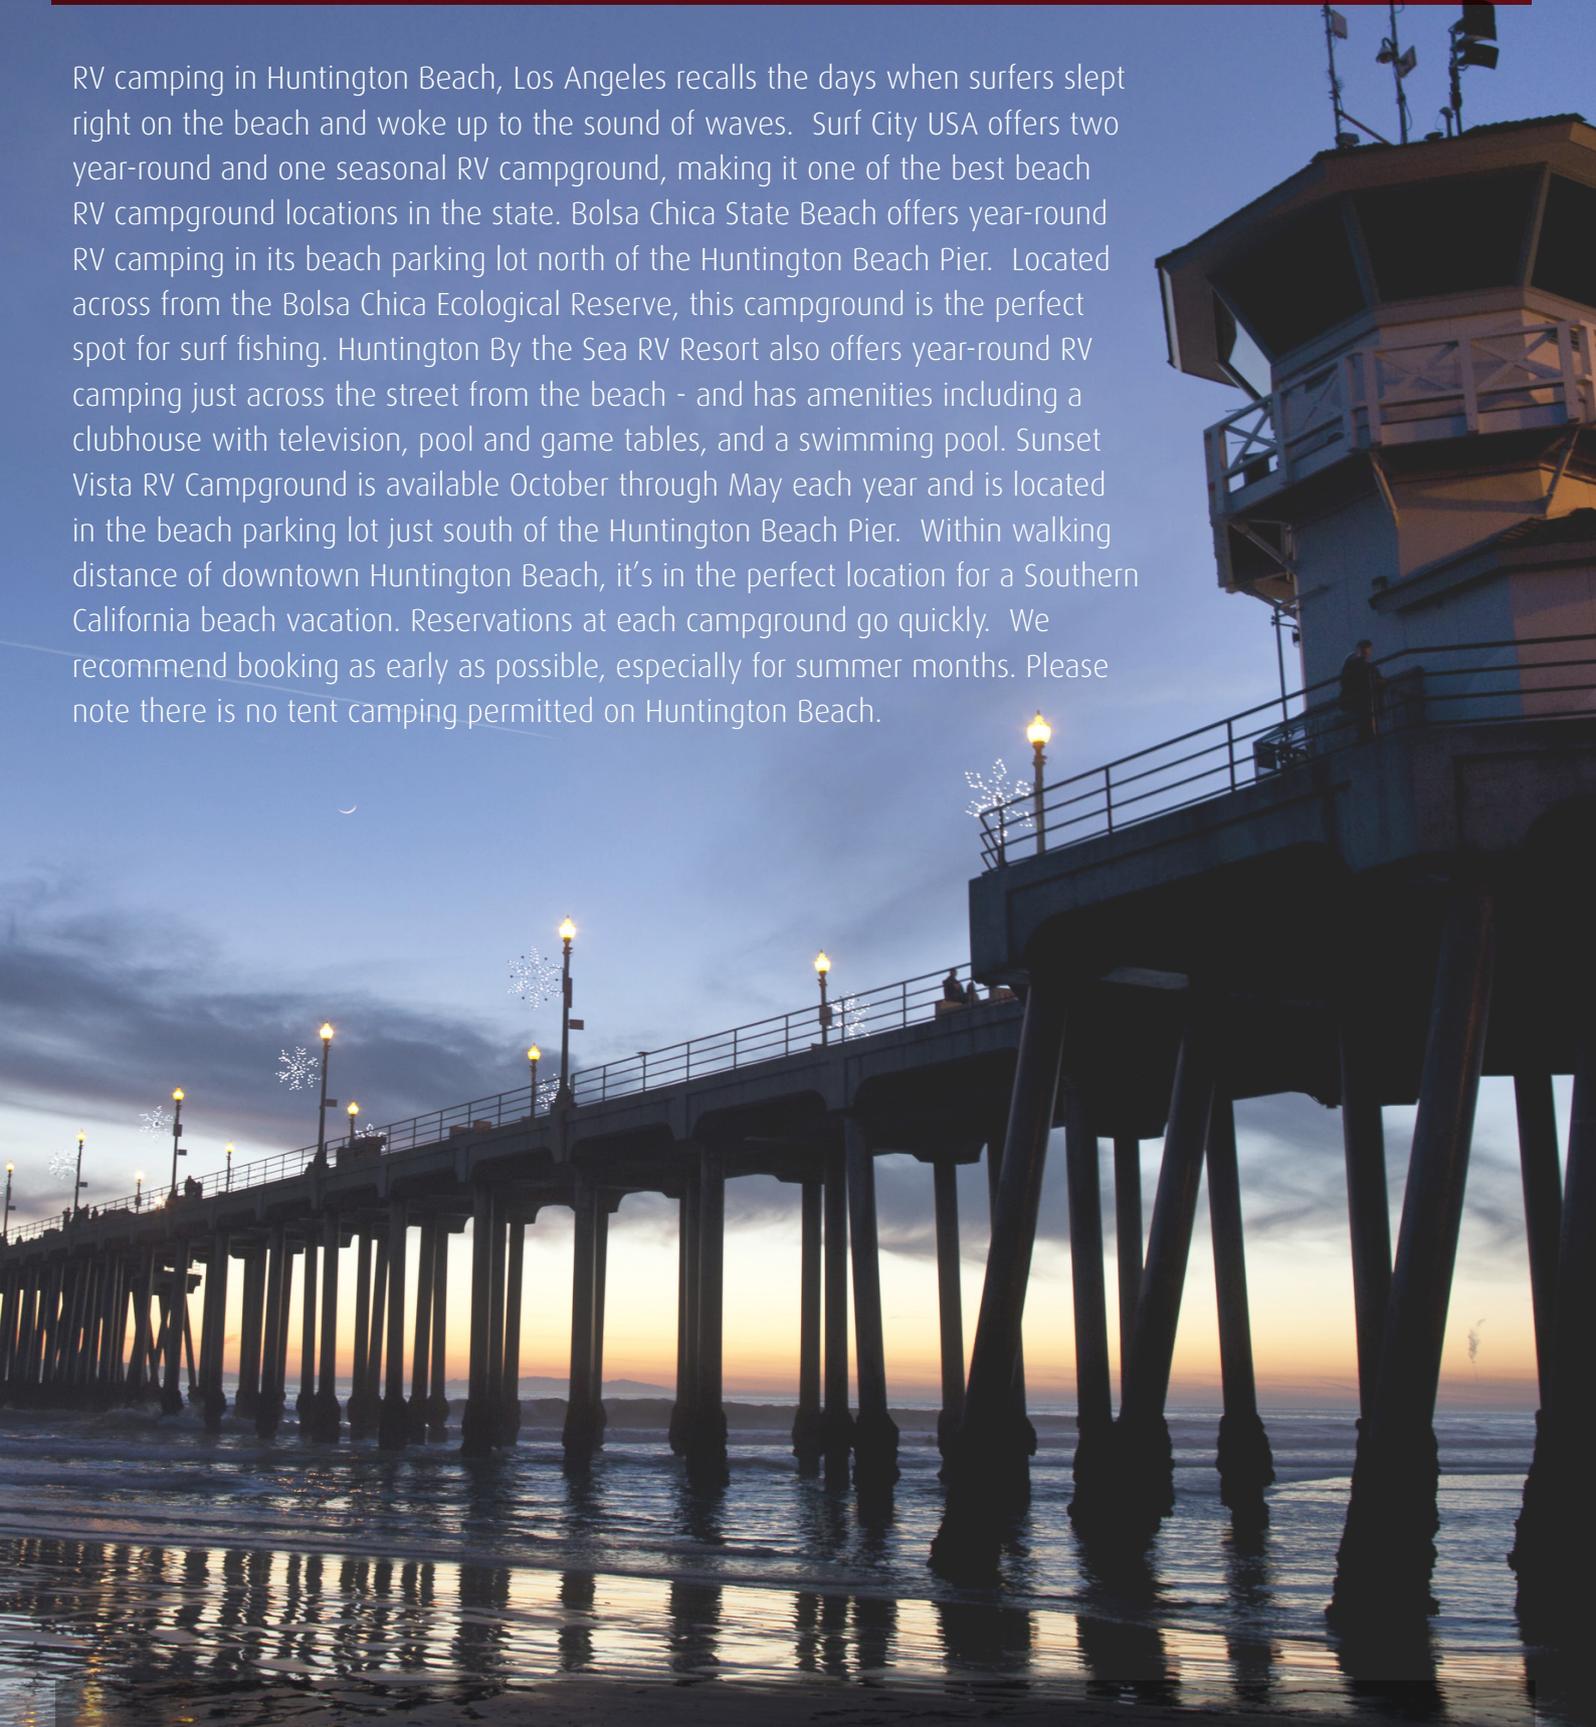

The most scenic route to take is via the famous Golden Gate Bridge, north bound and the picturesque surroundings you will detour are reminiscent of a drive through European countryside. Stay on Highway 101 for about 40 miles until you reach Petaluma in southern Sonoma. Take the highway 116 turnoff and merge left on Frates Road. Continue to follow the signs for approximately 23 miles until you reach the Napa Valley.

Huntington Beach

CAMP BY THE BEACH IN LOS ANGELES

RV camping in Huntington Beach, Los Angeles recalls the days when surfers slept right on the beach and woke up to the sound of waves. Surf City USA offers two year-round and one seasonal RV campground, making it one of the best beach RV campground locations in the state. Bolsa Chica State Beach offers year-round RV camping in its beach parking lot north of the Huntington Beach Pier. Located across from the Bolsa Chica Ecological Reserve, this campground is the perfect spot for surf fishing. Huntington By the Sea RV Resort also offers year-round RV camping just across the street from the beach - and has amenities including a clubhouse with television, pool and game tables, and a swimming pool. Sunset Vista RV Campground is available October through May each year and is located in the beach parking lot just south of the Huntington Beach Pier. Within walking distance of downtown Huntington Beach, it's in the perfect location for a Southern California beach vacation. Reservations at each campground go quickly. We recommend booking as early as possible, especially for summer months. Please note there is no tent camping permitted on Huntington Beach.

The North West

ROCKY MOUNTAIN STATES...

Located in the north western region of the USA, the Rocky Mountain States include Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming. The diverse mountainous landscapes are perfect for exploration. For plenty of glitz, glamour and entertainment, head to the magical city of Las Vegas for an adults playground, beyond your wildest dreams. There's plenty to do in the west, so why not discover the freedom of travelling in your own hire car with DriveAway.

The high elevation of the Mountain States creates a perfect place for various activities. Enjoy activities such as skiing in the winter and camping, hiking, fishing, and horse riding in the summer. There are many national parks in the region, including Yellowstone and Glacier. Yellowstone is the nation's oldest national park. It is made up of an entire ecosystem with many different habitats. Animals like the buffalo were almost extinct but are now protected in the park. Yellowstone is also famous for its geysers. See the hot springs and bubbling mud pots, a truly spectacular sight!

Events

JANUARY

The Sundance Film Festival, Utah - Held in Park City each January, is considered the premier showcase for American and international independent film.

APRIL

Viva Las Vegas, Nevada - The biggest rockabilly party in the world.

JUNE

Day 2: Moab, Utah

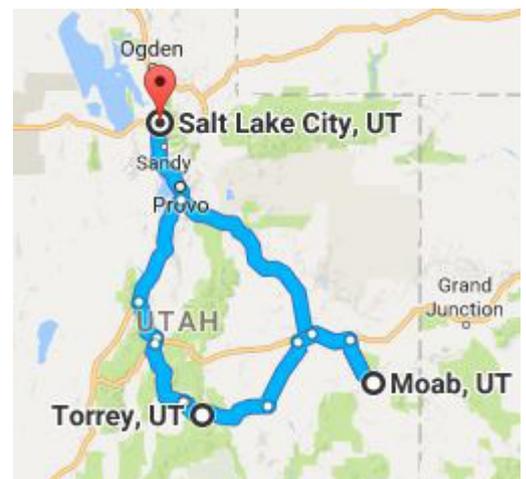

Explore Arches National Park, hiking to Delicate Arch and discover over 2,000 ecological arches. Continue onto the Negro Bill Canyon Trailhead and walk to Morning Glory Arch, one of the longest arches in the world. If time permits experience rafting on the Colorado River.

Day 3: Moab - Torrey, Utah (156mi/251km)

Drive to Goblin Valley State Park, one of the most unique sights in the west, comprising of oddly shaped rock formations that at some points look like an army of goblins. Then continue to Capitol Reef National Park - a 100 mile fold in the earth's crust that created the Colorado Plateau. Erosion has since carved the spectacular cliffs and rock formations of Capitol Reef. Spend the afternoon exploring before driving onto Torrey.

Day 4: Torrey - Salt Lake City, Utah (213mi/342km)

Before concluding this ecology drive, continue to U-Dig Fossils - a quarry west of Delta. Enjoy a day of digging for Trilobites where you are guaranteed to unearth your own 250 million year old fossils which you can take home. Continue back to Salt Lake City.

The South West

WILD WEST FRONTIER...

The Southwestern desert states of New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada stretch from Texas to California, across a unique landscape ranging from towering red sandstone blocks to snowcapped mountains, on a high desert plateau, filled with deep canyons. This vast contrast of scenery is complemented by the ever present Native American cultures and America's historical Wild West legacy.

Each of the four Southwestern states contains unique characteristics, New Mexico still contains traces of Native American settlements and Spanish colonial towns. More than a third of Arizona belongs to Native American tribes and most live in the red-rock lands and canyon country, home to the spectacular Grand Canyon. Utah is covered in national parks and monuments including Zion and Bryce canyons, and Nevada is a desolate desert home to the infamous glitz and glamour of Las Vegas.

Self-Drive Tours Around The South West

Route 66 - Chicago to Santa Monica

One of the most famous highways in the US, Route 66 stretches from Chicago to Los Angeles. Built in 1926, it became the main route for migrants seeking a better life in California. The historical route has now been replaced with modern highways but the townships have preserved the heritage of historical Route 66.

After exploring the windy city of Chicago and Lake Michigan, begin your journey through the farmland of Illinois and onto St Louis, Missouri. From the Mississippi River, Route 66 will take you through Oklahoma City, where the migrant convoys in the 1930's, once began. Stop off at Oklahoma Museum which tells the story of this historical journey.

Travel through the region of the Cheyenne and Arapao Indians, where they once hunted bison; and onto Amarillo Texas, home to cowboys and oil fields. Stop off at the infamous Cadillac Ranch where you will find 10 tail-finned cadillacs buried nose first into the sand! Continue to New Mexico through the hunting lands of the Comanche Indians and onto Albuquerque.

At Albuquerque, take a ride on the aerial tramway to the top of the Sandian Mountains. The city is world famous for its hot air balloon festival in October. Travelling onto Santa Fe, taking the famous Tortoise Trail through the small artist-mountain communities.

ROUTE 66 ATTRACTIONS

- » Cars On The Route, Galena
- » Route 66 Drive In, Carthage
- » Route 66 Museum, Atlanta
- » Petrified Forest National Park
- » Roy's, Amboy
- » Santa Monica Pier

At Albuquerque, take a ride on the aerial tramway to the top of the Sandian Mountains. The city is world famous for its hot air balloon festival in October. Travelling onto Santa Fe, taking the famous Tortoise Trail through the small artist-mountain communities. Built in 1610, visit the oldest government building in the US, Palace of the Governors.

Drive onto Holbrook, the Petrified Forest National Park, then through Navajo Indian Country toward the Grand Canyon National Park where you can take a helicopter flight or a hike and experience its vast majestic scenery. Going-To-The-Sun Road

Day Drive: Glacier National Park (50mi/80km)

The name itself conjures a vision of something very special, and indeed it is. This road is a spectacular feat of engineering, running east to west through the Glacier National Park with breathtaking scenery ranging from alpine tundra to cedar forests, incredible glacial lakes to mountains that look as if they have exploded out of the earth.

Major highlights include the Jackson Glacier, the “Weeping Wall” and Logan Pass, where you can hike up to a hidden look-out. It is likely that you will see some of the local wildlife near Logan Pass, including moose, mountain goats and bighorn sheep.

Montana is known for its food, microbreweries and farmers’ markets – don’t forget to try some of the local Huckleberry Pie! It’s not often you get a chance to enjoy countryside as pristine as what you’ll find in this northern American state. Please note that the Sun Road is only accessible from June to mid-late October depending on the snow fall.

Its reputation as a superb community comes from the numerous large seaside estates along Ocean Avenue. The famous "Bush Compound" is located on Walker's Point, a peninsula visible from Ocean Avenue.

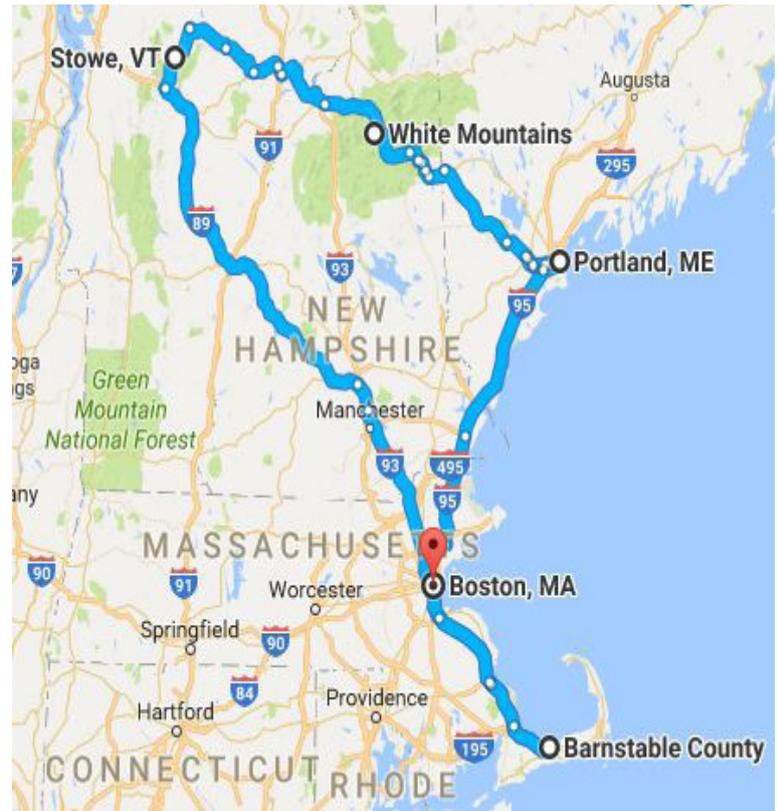

Day 2: Maine - White Mountains (107mi/172km)

Drive through stunning scenery from forests to fields, all interspersed with lakes and rivers. When you reach the White Mountains in New Hampshire there are two scenic byways you should drive.

The first is the White Mountains Trail National Scenic Byway, a 100 mile loop that winds through the White Mountains National Forest past many attractions. Further south, the second route is the Kancamangus National Scenic Byway, often referred to as the best fall foliage drive in America. The road offers splendid views and vivid colour, best of all between mid-September and mid-October.

Day 3: The White Mountains - Stowe, Northern Vermont (130mi/210km)

The Green Mountains in Vermont played a huge role in the creation of Vermont. The Green Mountain Byway runs on VT 100 through the towns of Waterbury and Stowe, between the spine of the northern Green Mountains to the west and the peaks of the Worcester Range to the east. As you drive the route, enjoy breathtaking views of meadows, farmlands and forests with spectacular mountain backdrops. The most prominent natural feature is Mount Mansfield, Vermont's highest peak.

Day 4: Stowe - Connecticut River Valley/Berkshires (174mi/280km)

Drive the Jacob's Ladder Trail Scenic Byway, an untouched rural roadway that runs through the Berkshires. Follow the route through forested hills, the rock-strewn Westfield River, open fields, small towns of 19th century architecture, wetlands and steep rock ledges. Take one of the three entries into Chester-Blandford State Forest and enjoy hiking, camping, cross-country skiing, and snowshoeing. Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival in Becket a National Historic Landmark, hosts dance companies from around the world. The outdoor stage has a beautiful view into the Berkshire Hills.

Further north in the Berkshires you'll find Mount Greylock, one of the highlights of the region. At 3,491 feet, it is the highest point in Massachusetts and southern New England, offering fantastic panoramic views into five states. Legend has it that Greylock's long, saddle-like shape inspired Herman Melville to write "Moby Dick".

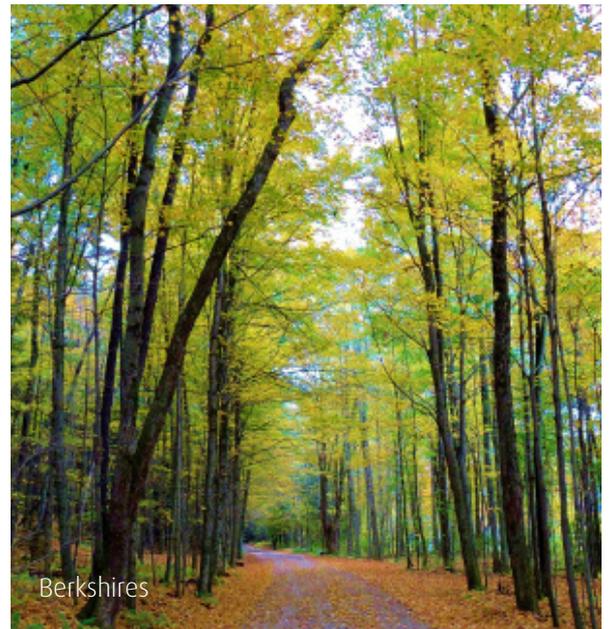

Day 5: The Berkshires - Cape Cod, Massachusetts (186mi/300km)

Cape Cod is larger than most people imagine. The Upper Cape closest to the Massachusetts mainland is home to Sandwich and Falmouth, the location of the famous Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution. Hyannis, of Kennedy fame, is located Mid-Cape. The narrow portion of land where it bends sharply north is considered the Lower Cape.

The Outer Cape includes the Cape Cod National Seashore, forty miles of pristine sandy beach, marshes, ponds and uplands. Lighthouses, cultural landscapes and wild cranberry bogs offer a glimpse of Cape Cod's past. Whale watching is a must at the right time of year.

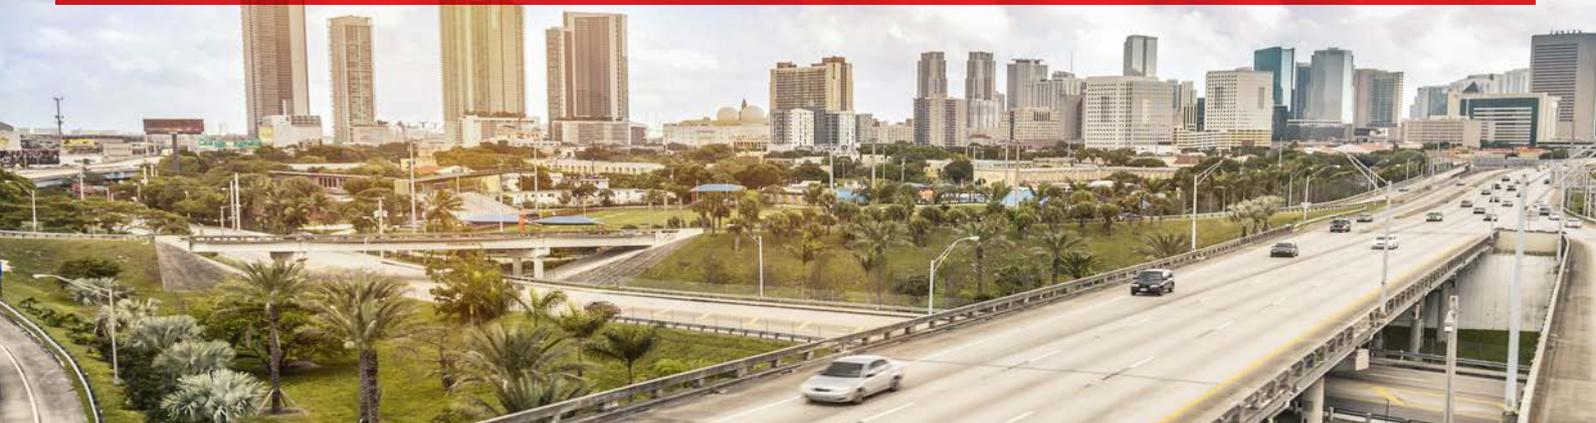

Day 6: Cape Cod - Boston (75mi/120km)

En-route visit picturesque Sandwich, the Cape's oldest town, and the Plimoth Plantation at Plymouth - a living Museum of life in 1627 - before driving an hour and a half back to Boston.

Visiting The USA

GUIDE TO STAYING SAFE

Stay Safe

Despite a relatively high crime rate and occasional natural disasters, the USA remains a very safe place to travel. Most crime is concentrated in inner city neighbourhoods in areas that are not frequented by visitors, and is often gang or drug related.

In the US, petty theft would be the greatest concern to travellers. Don't make yourself a target by showing off expensive jewellery and cash in public. Keep your money and credit cards in a safe place. Try to avoid walking dark, deserted streets on your own. Withdraw money from ATMs during the day or in well-lit busy areas at night. Respect the local laws and customs. The same as travelling in any foreign country, your common sense is the most valuable possession you can have.

The USA is an enormous country with varied geography that can be affected by natural disasters. Hurricanes sometimes occur in the south from June through to November; tornadoes occur occasionally in the Great Plains region, earthquakes can occur in California and Alaska, and the extreme heat of midsummer in California has been known to produce wildfires. Keep in mind that these are very wide generalisations and are certainly not guaranteed to happen.

Stay Healthy

The American health system is one of the world's best in terms of quality, but can be very expensive for those without insurance. Most Americans generally have health insurance, otherwise they face expensive hospital bills or depend on the government subsidised health plans. Your comprehensive travel insurance should cover any medical costs including medical evacuation, so make sure that your insurance covers you for the whole time you'll be away and be clear on what is not included, otherwise you might face enormous hospital bills.

In the event of an emergency, call 911 for an ambulance that will take you to the hospital emergency room (ER). Alternatively, walk in to the ER if it is a less urgent situation. For routine medical care, head to a walk-in clinic, where you'll receive regular medical care. Pharmacies and drug stores carry most prescriptions, however, as with most other medical care in the USA it can be expensive, so it's best to have your scripts filled before you go, and carry these medicines along with a letter from your GP explaining your medical needs.

Visiting The USA

MONEY MATTERS

Currency

US Dollar (USD $) = 100 cents (¢) Notes are in denominations of $100, $50, $20, $10, $5, $2 and $1. Coins are in denominations of $1 and 50 (half-dollar), 25 (quarter), 10 (dime), 5 (nickel) and 1 (penny) cents.

Currency Exchange

Available in airports, major banks and bureaux de change. Generally banks are open Mon-Fri 0830-1700.

ATMs

ATMs (automatic teller machines) are located in almost all towns and cities, especially in most banks and accept major credit and debit cards.

Credit & Debit Cards

Most credit and debit cards are accepted throughout the US, including Visa, MasterCard, American Express and Diners Club. It is a good idea to carry at least one major credit card while travelling in the US, since most hotels and car rental companies will require a credit card imprint. Contact your credit card company immediately if your credit card is lost or stolen.

Travellers Cheques

Travellers cheques are widely accepted in the USA, and in US Dollars. Cheques in other currency are generally not accepted. You will need a form of photo identification to use travellers cheques.

Tax

In the US, Sales Tax is added onto the price of goods and services that are purchased within the USA, and is displayed as a percentage of the sale price. Each state has its own rate of sales tax. Some states do not charge any state-wide sales tax, such as Alaska, Montana, Delaware, New Hampshire and Oregon; however local governments within these states may charge local taxes for things such as meals, room occupancies, car rentals and use of electricity.

Tipping

Tipping in the USA is standard practice and indeed often expected. There are different expectations for different industries, so use this as a rough guide:

- Restaurants with table service: tip 15% of the bill, and for exceptional service 15-25%.
- Buffet restaurants: 10-15% of the bill.
- Fast food outlets: tipping is not expected but if the service has been fantastic then tips are appropriate into the tip jar.
- Bar Staff: $1-$2 per drink or 15-20% of the total bill.
- Bellman/Porter: $1-$2 per bag.
- Concierge: tipping is not expected but for exceptional service tipping is appreciated.
- Taxi Driver: 10-15% of fare.
- Valet Parkers: $2-$5 when collecting your car.
- Hairdresser/Manicurist: 10-20%.
- Tour Guides: 15-20% depending on knowledge and friendliness.

Customer Reviews

Driveaway is the only company we use for car rental worldwide

"We are able to pay before travelling and there is rarely more to pay when we rent the car. The excess waiver insurance is so much cheaper than it is from the car rental companies. An excellent service."

- Catherine, August 2016

The first and only car hire call you'll make EVER

"It's a one stop car hire for your holidays overseas. Great, personal & Australian service is always offered by an Australian call centre. We have used them several times over the past years and always the same great service."

- Pieter, September 2016

Helpful and Friendly

"The staff were very helpful and friendly. The process to book, pay for, pick up and drop off our hire car was straight forward and simple. I would absolutely use this service again and recommend them to others."

- Maxine, December 2016
